Environmental policy

Craftor AB is a power contractor that designs and builds station, line and cable facilities for customers who own electrical infrastructure. Craftor has its main operations in Sweden, but international projects occur regularly.

- Everyone who works for, with or delivers to Craftor should do so in an environmentally responsible manner.
- Our environmental work is controlled in our management system and we work to constantly develop and improve the system to reduce our environmental impact.
- Craftors will strive to improve our customers' environmental performance by, among other things, making environmental improvement measures such as using environmentally friendly products, designs and materials in our projects.
- Our environmental goals are described in our business plan. The goals are based on this policy and are evaluated annually.
- We work methodically and consistently in our projects to comply with applicable laws and regulations for a good and healthy environment.
- All employees contribute through their professional skills and ability to make our customers happy. Thinking and acting environmentally consciously is the responsibility of all employees.
